

Gale Cuts Path In Lower State; Towns Isolated

(By The Associated Press)

Winds up to hurricane force battered Southern Michigan today in the worst storm of its kind in years. One man was killed.

Preliminary estimates indicated that damage would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

George Wilson, 29, was crushed to death by a falling tree as he left work at the Buick plant in Flint during the height of the storm. In Detroit, Police Sgt. Clarence Bracy was badly injured when he was struck by a car while directing traffic around a fallen tree.

Consumers Power Co. reported sustained gusts of wind in the Flint area of 82 miles per hour and brief gusts up to 95. Hurricane force is 75 miles per hour.

The village of Clio near Flint was without power. Schools were closed there and in Jackson.

Roofs were blown off buildings in a wide area. Airport hangars were battered down, windows smashed, trees uprooted and telephone and power circuits snarled. Consumers Power Co. said service was interrupted to more than a score of areas, large and small. They are:

Jackson, Albion, Parma, Hanover, Michigan Center, Chelsea, Grass Lake, Summit, Hudson, Cement City, Waldron, Morenci, Charlotte, Owosso, Saginaw, Lansing, Pontiac, Flint, Hastings, Grand Rapids and Vandercook Lake.

The Tri-County Telephone Co. at Adrian, said toll lines were out from Adrian to Morenci, Onsted, Deerfield, Britton, Addison, Hillsdale and Toledo.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said 1,000 telephones in Detroit were affected, 375 of them in the Vermont exchange where a power line fell across a phone cable and set it afire.

Postoria near Flint and Snover near Port Huron were isolated when toppling trees carried down long distance lines.

The wind fanned a $100,000 fire that swept two-thirds of a business block in downtown Mason and stopped just short of the city hall. Power was out at the time due to the storm. Fire departments from four cities fought the blaze.

The Detroit area was hit severely with gusts up to 75 miles per hour, according to the weather bureau.

Trees went down, signs were overturned and shop windows broken by the force of the wind.

Acheson Set To Be Tough With Stalin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Jan. 19. (P)—Fresh evidence that the Truman administration will press its so-called "tough" policy toward Russia was found by diplomatic authorities today in the debate that led up to Senate confirmation of Dean Acheson as secretary of state.

The debate indicated that any effort to back away from the cold war in the months ahead would arouse violent opposition at the capitol.

Acheson, bearing a definite "no appeasement" label, was confirmed late yesterday by a vote of 83 to 6. The half dozen negative votes were all registered by his Republican critics. He is expected to be sworn in, as the fourth secretary of state to serve under President Truman, tomorrow or Friday.

The resignations of the ailing George C. Marshall as secretary and Robert A. Lovett as under-secretary are due to become effective tomorrow.

While nearly all the Republicans in the Senate went along in confirming Acheson, they made it plain they reserve the right to oppose administration foreign policy as they see fit. This is important from the standpoint of presenting a united, bi-partisan front.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the GOP Senate leader on foreign policy, praised Acheson highly but said it must be remembered that the policies he executes will be those of President Truman. And the president's policies, the senator added, may be "impromptu and unpredictable."

I'm Just Wild About Harry, Capital Sings

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, Jan. 19. (P)—Harry S. Truman took over the capital city today to the echoing strains of "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

The man from Missouri plunged into a gay round of inaugural festivities with a promise to fight on for world peace and for a "Fair Deal" legislative program at home.

And he asked all Democrats in Congress to co-operate, asserting "I know that is exactly what they are going to do."

Mr. Truman's promise and his appeal were in informal remarks last night at the $15-a-plate dinner of the Truman-Barkley club, the send-off ceremony for inauguration week. He and Vice President-elect Barkley, who will take their oaths of office tomorrow, appeared together for the first time in the current celebrations.

Band Changes Tune

The band struck up the traditional "Hail To The Chief" as the president entered the Mayflower Hotel banquet hall, arm in arm with Barkley, but quickly changed to "I'm Just Wild About Harry," a familiar theme during the Truman presidential campaign.

A wave of applause and cheering swept over the throng of 2,500 party faithful.

Mr. Truman told his audience he and Barkley "expect to carry out the policies and principles laid down in the Democratic platform."

That is why, he said, "I am anxious for the senators and the representatives who are Democrats in the Congress of the United States to co-operate with us, and I know that is exactly what they are going to do."

Mr. Truman's engagement today included a luncheon with the Democratic committee's finance committee, dinner with the presidential electors (7 p. m.) and attendance at the inaugural gala.

Kansas City Hit Hard By Storm

Schools Closed, Highways Blocked By Blizzard

Kansas City, Jan. 19 (P)—The weather handed the midlands a one-two punch today, following up a snow that virtually paralyzed some areas with bitter cold.

The Kansas City area was hardest hit by the snow storm which began before dawn yesterday and ended shortly before midnight. The weather bureau recorded eight inches of snow.

Public and parochial schools in both Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., were closed today. The highway patrol reported some highways in northwest and central Missouri were virtually impassable.

Hotels were jammed with storm-bound visitors and extra cots were set up in dining rooms and guest rooms.

Commercial airline schedules returned to normal after some delays because of the weather. Some buses and trains were delayed also.

The storm was rapidly moving northeastward out of the midwest early today although it still was snowing in parts of Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Temperatures headed downward over much of the midcontinent.

Dickens, N. D., reported 23 below zero at 1 a. m. (EST). Chadron, Neb., had 13 below at 3:30 a. m. (EST). The mercury also hovered around the zero mark in parts of Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

Ships and Planes Hunt For Missing British Airliner

Hamilton, Bermuda, Jan. 19 (P)—Eighty planes and a score of U. S. warships, including two carriers and the battleship Missouri, led a great search today for a British airliner down somewhere in the Atlantic.

The giant rescue operation expanded today after scanning 177,000 square miles of sea yesterday for a trace of the British South American Airways four-engined tutor "Ariel" which disappeared with 20 persons Monday while on a 1,000-mile flight from Bermuda to Kingston, Jamaica.

The search continued last night with four planes checking the area for a sign of flares from any passengers who might be adrift.

The U. S. Coast Guard at Miami, Fla., estimated more than 13,000 men, including 3,000 reserve officers, were aboard the search armada.

Dewey Sends Best Wishes To President

Democrats Suffer First Defeat In Congress

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, Jan. 19 (P)—Gay and carefree thousands poured into Washington today in a holiday mood for Harry S. Truman's presidential inauguration tomorrow.

They came in a stream of special trains, by plane and automobile to pay tribute to the one-time farm boy whose mother once said he "plowed the straightest row of corn" in all Jackson county, Missouri.

The best guesses are that 500,000 to 750,000 people are headed for Washington.

One Jarring Note
There was one jarring discord thrust into the Democrats' happy affair late yesterday—the Senate defeated a bill to waive the 20 per cent federal tax on all grandstand parade and inaugural ball tickets. This was the Democrats' first defeat in the new Congress.

But the sting of this Republican maneuver was eased by a message to the President from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the defeated GOP presidential candidate.

Dewey wished Mr. Truman "good health and divine guidance" in congratulating him on his forthcoming inauguration. And the President replied that "good wishes such as yours strengthen me for the tasks that lie ahead."

At the White House, Mr. Truman fanned the jubilee spirit by signing a bill giving a Thursday-Friday holiday to federal workers in the Washington area. This gives them a four-day weekend for the festivities.

Weather Cooperates
Even the weatherman was helpful. He promised no rain or snow when Mr. Truman and Vice President-elect Barkley of Kentucky are sworn into office at noon tomorrow on the platform at the steps of the Capitol. Just winds, a cloudy sky and the temperature at 38 to 40 degrees.

The President was in good physical condition for the inauguration grind. His physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, announced he weighs 174 pounds—only four pounds over his best weight.

Mr. Truman got started on the inaugural events last night at a dinner given by the Truman-Barkley club. Today's schedule started with a luncheon by the Finance committee of the Democratic National committee. Later in the afternoon he and Mrs. Truman will be the honor guests at a reception given by Gov. and Mrs. Forrest Smith of Missouri.

After the reception, a quick

Carpenter Waits Hearing In Torch Death Of His Wife

Mason, Mich., Jan. 19 (P)—Victor Vercusse, 42-year-old Mason carpenter, awaited arraignment on murder charges in the fire death of his wife today after attending her funeral services yesterday.

Under police guard, the husband attended the funeral services during a cold sleet storm yesterday. His hands were still swathed in bandages from burns received in the fire that caused the death of his wife, Selma, 40.

The husband has maintained his innocence in the death last Friday, claiming the fire was accidental. Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean said the woman made a deathbed statement in which she told hospital attendants her husband threw gasoline on her and then set her on fire as a human torch.

Florida Mystery Shooting Sifted

Clues Analyzed In Death Of Young Millionaire

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 19 (P)—Authorities said today they were marking time in their investigation of the mysterious night time death of Grenville Baker while they awaited an FBI analysis of evidence surrounding the shooting of the wealthy 27-year-old World War II veteran.

Baker, heir to New York banking millions, was found with a fatal pistol wound in his head early Monday a few minutes after the jeep he was driving wrecked on a lonely dirt road on his mother's spacious plantation 12 miles north of here.

His companion was dark-haired, blue-eyed Thomas Griffin, 21-year-old divorcee.

Both State Attorney William D. Hopkins and Sheriff Frank Stoutmire said they were inclined to believe the young socialite's death was accidental. Hopkins, however, still considered the possibility of suicide, though no evidence had been found, he said, to indicate that Baker had taken his own life. "It doesn't look like murder," said the state attorney.

Mrs. Griffin, a tavern car hop who met Baker for the first time the night before he died, could give only scant help to investigating authorities. She told officers she was thrown from the jeep and died when it struck an embankment. When she regained her senses, she saw young Baker lying in the road and heard him groan.

Bill To Ban Masks Of Klan Defeated In Georgia, 78 to 72

Atlanta, Jan. 19 (P)—A move to kill a bill designed to unmask the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia was defeated in the House yesterday by a narrow margin, 78 to 72.

Rep. John Greer, author of the measure which would forbid the wearing of masks or hoods at either public or private meetings, said "a great majority of Georgia citizens" supported the bill.

Cease-Fire Order Proposed In China

Nanking, Jan. 19. (P)—The government today asked for a cease fire order on both sides in the Chinese civil war and immediate peace negotiations.

A formal statement by the government information office announced the move to halt the three year war.

The statement said: "The government, in deference to the general wishes of the people for an early realization of peace, hereby makes known its desire for both government and Communist forces to cease fire unconditionally and for both sides to appoint delegates to start peace negotiations."

Chiang's views on the action today is eagerly awaited in the capital. The government announcement, however, was taken to mean that he had at least given tentative approval to the peace move.

The bitterness of the struggle inside the executive Yan was hinted at by a report Premier Sun To threatened to resign at today's meeting if a decision to negotiate was not made.

The group gaining the upper hand today includes members of the executive Yan who overcame confusion, panic and inertia as well as strong resistance when they forced the vote through without the visible approval of Chiang.

Flier Marooned For Week Saved

Ski Plane Picks Man Up From Colorado Mesa

Denver, Jan. 19 (P)—An ex-Army flier related today how he spent almost a week on an 8,000-foot plateau in rugged country near the Colorado-Utah border.

The flier, William H. Harrison, Jr., Granby, Colo., was rescued yesterday by a ski plane. He crashed atop the Mesa last Wednesday. Temperatures in the area had dropped to as low as 40 below zero during the week.

"I did a lot of praying and even made out my last will and testament but never gave up hope that I would be rescued," Harrison said.

The 39-year-old pilot was taken to the Fort Logan veterans hospital last night where doctors are attempting to save his badly frozen feet.

Harrison had been the object of an air search since he took off from Rock Springs, Wyo., for Grand Junction, Colo.

Jim Eskridge, Colorado Civil Air Patrol pilot, who sighted him from the air, and O. C. LeBoutillier both of Craig, Colo., made the successful pickup and flew Harrison to Vernal, Utah.

Eskridge had dropped food and clothing to the stranded man after first sighting him but said later that Harrison told him he could not eat the food because it was frozen.

Wind Fans Fire At Mason, Mich; Damage $100,000

Lansing, Jan. 19 (P)—Fire fanned by gale-like winds swept through three stores in the downtown Mason business district early today.

The blaze broke out at about 2 a. m. (EST) during a power failure caused by the gale. Firemen from four cities were still pouring water on the smoking embers at dawn.

Fire chief Lee Austin estimated damage at $100,000.

Due to the power failure, the city fire siren would not operate to sound the alarm and a police car raced through town with its siren wailing to rouse the Mason volunteer fire department.

The flames broke out in a store occupied by the Fox Cleaners and Dyers and spread to two adjoining stores, the C. L. Jacobs general store and the Lyle Morse restaurant.

An entire city block adjacent to the Ingham county building was threatened before apparatus from Lansing, Leslie, Delhi and Mason brought the blaze under control.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Johnson and their daughter Nancy 16, who lived in an apartment above the stores escaped to the street in their night clothes.

Israel And Egypt Peace Negotiations Hidden In Secrecy

Rhodes, Jan. 19 (P)—Strict secrecy today marked the armistice negotiations of Israel and Egypt, now at the critical stage.

No single word was forthcoming from the four separate meetings which the acting U. N. Mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, held yesterday with each delegation.

It was presumed hard bargaining was going on, with Israel's future boundaries in the Negev at stake.

Bunche was trying to lead both sides into agreement on such hard practical questions as withdrawal and reduction of the armed forces in the barren Negev which the new Zionist state hopes to make populous with settlers and rich by irrigation.

An atmosphere of optimism still prevailed, despite the difficulty of the negotiations.

Groaner Moves To CBS In Fall

Crosby Third Big Plum Picked By Network

Hollywood, Jan. 19 (P)—Bing Crosby moves to CBS next Fall. The "Ol' groaner" is the third prize radio plum picked by Columbia Broadcasting System in its talent raid on rival networks.

They've snatched him from American Broadcasting Co., less than a month after Jack Benny switched from National Broadcasting Co. to CBS and a few months since Amos 'N' Andy moved from NBC to CBS.

A sudden announcement by William S. Paley, CBS board chairman now in Hollywood, said last night that CBS and Crosby have reached an agreement whereby the singer will be heard over CBS beginning next Fall and for "an extended period."

The announcement came the same day the latest Hooper ratings, announced in New York, showed that CBS now has seven places in the top 15 Hooper-rated programs, NBC holding five and ABC three.

ABC's Walter Winchell tops the list, CBS' Jack Benny and Radio Theater are second and third, respectively, and NBC's Fibber McGee and Molly is fourth.

Sunday night is a fiercely competitive one, with CBS featuring Benny, Amos 'N' Andy, Spike Jones and Sam Spade against NBC's Horace Heidt, Ozzie and Harriet, Phil Harris and Alice Faye and Fred Allen, and ABC's Winchell.

Communists Use Delaying Tactics In Trial Of Eleven

New York, Jan. 19 (P)—Trial of eleven Communist leaders went ahead today without party National Chairman William Z. Foster, but at such a slow pace that the presiding jurist remarked: "I'd like to get down to work."

Several delaying moves still confront the court.

Chief of these is a defense challenge of the jury system in the southern federal district of New York. The defense claims the method of choosing jurors here is biased.

This, and other defense maneuvers have taken up almost the entire proceedings since the trial started Monday.

Government prosecutors won a major legal skirmish yesterday when Federal Judge Harold R. Medina granted a request—over heated defense objections—that the trial of Foster, 67, and suffering from a heart ailment, be separated from that of his 11 colleagues.

Airmen Of Michigan National Guard Fly In Inaugural Show

Lansing, Jan. 19 (P)—The air arm of Michigan's National Guard will be represented at President Truman's inaugural tomorrow by 12 F-51 Mustang fighters, guard headquarters here said today.

Eight F-51's of the 172nd Fighter Squadron at Kellogg Field, Battle Creek, and four Mustangs of the 171st Fighter Squadron at the Detroit Wayne-Major Airport will join 25 other squadrons of National Guard planes in the aerial revue to be staged as a part of the Washington ceremonies.

The Michigan planes left today for the Dover, Del. Air Force base where they will stay overnight prior to the review.

Smoke And Drink Levies May Help State Out Of Red

Lansing, Jan. 19 (P)—A $600,000-a-year boost in liquor license fees and a stamp plan to tighten state cigarette tax collections were advocated in the Senate today.

Senator Frank Heath (R-Bay City) proposed the higher liquor fees and a quota system for sellers of package beer, wine and liquor.

Sensors Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) and Edwin W. Klump (R-Harbor Beach) filed a bill to institute the cigarette tax stamp plan without changing the amount of the tax.

The plan would authorize the Pipelines Blaze At Morris, Ind.

Spark Sets Fire In Big And Little Inch

By TERRY FLYNN

Batesville, Ind., Jan. 19 (P)—The big and little inch pipelines roared in a flaming torch 60 feet high at nearby Morris today after being ignited by fire sparked by a power failure.

Two of five men who were in a pumping station of the gas lines when the fire started were burned. Neither was in serious condition.

Pumping stations of both lines were destroyed and gas in the 80 miles of pipe was turned off. The gas was shut off at Seymour, Ind., near here and at Miamisburg, O., about 25 miles east.

Officials said flow of the fuel would be resumed after the 80-mile stretch of gas was burned out.

Constructed by the government during the war, the lines carried petroleum from Texas to the East. Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. bought them two years ago for $143,127,000 and converted them for transmission of natural gas.

City Of Dearborn Borrows To Cover Raise To Employees

Lansing, Jan. 19 (P)—The city of Dearborn must go in debt to pay its employees a cost-of-living increase under orders of the State Supreme Court.

Reporting that the additional salary expense had not been anticipated in preparing this year's budget, the city obtained approval from the state municipal finance commission to borrow $200,000 on tax anticipation notes for that purpose.

The court recently instructed the city to make good a cost-of-living increase which had been contained in a civil service pay schedule by the city council.

Missing Mail Bag With $88,500 Found In Waukesha Park

Waukesha, Wis., Jan. 19. (AP)—The $88,500 in currency stolen from a bank's mail shipment last Thursday was found yesterday stuffed under a culvert in Frame Park.

Postal Inspector E. J. Holmes said the money, still in the bag in which it was shipped by the Waukesha National Bank, was located on an anonymous telephone tip to the Waukesha police.

He said the tip came yesterday afternoon and that apparently the contents of the bag were undisputed.

All of the money was in useable condition. This was revealed by bank officials. Earlier reports said the bag contained $75,000, partly in mutilated currency.

According to Holmes, a man who declined to identify himself because "I don't want to get mixed up in this," told the police by telephone that "two small boys have told me they found the money under the culvert." Frame Park is located along the Fox River on the western edge of Waukesha. A heavily-traveled street skirts the park.

The currency, en route to a Chicago bank, disappeared on the way to the depot. The empty mail bag in which it was wrapped was found by hunters on Friday.

Truman Signs Bill To Raise His Pay; Expenses Tax Free

Washington, Jan. 19. (AP)—President Truman today signed a bill raising his own pay from $75,000 to $100,000 and increasing his expense allowances by $50,000. The legislation also raises the pay of Vice President-elect Barkley and Speaker Rayburn from $20,000 to $30,000 a year and allows each of them $10,000 for expenses.

The White House pointed out that the new $50,000 expense allowance for the president requires no accounting. The $40,000 he now receives is tax free like the new fund, but the president has to account for expenditures under it. The expense allowances for the

The jury hearing in the $25,000 damage suit of Mrs. Henry Khollman of Escanaba against J. Clayton Sheely of Detroit was resumed at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon before Judge Glen W. Jackson of Gladstone.

Mrs. Khollman seeks a judgment of $25,000 for the estate of her husband, who was fatally injured Nov. 14, 1947 when he was struck by a car driven by Sheely. The accident occurred in the city of Escanaba. Khollman was employed as an equipment operator for the city.

The case was not at hearing this morning at the request of the attorney for the plaintiff. No defense witnesses have yet been called and it is expected the hearing will continue for another day.

It is the claim of the plaintiff that Sheely was negligent in the operation of his car. Included in the requested judgment is an amount for funeral expenses, and for anticipated income of the deceased, who is survived by his widow and one daughter.

Homer, Mich. School Students On Strike Over Athletic Scrap

Homer, Mich., Jan. 19. (AP)—Fifty Homer high school students stretched their strike into a second day today, determined, they said, to stay out as long as their superintendent is retained. They complained that the superintendent, L. M. Wade, was de-emphasizing the school's athletic program.

One of the strikers said Wade "doesn't care about athletics." "He curtailed girls' athletic privileges and has been having some trouble with the coach for the past two years," the student added.

Many of the 50, representing a majority of the students, said they felt Wade was responsible for Athletic Coach Sol Wolfe's resignation. Wolfe said he told Wade he was resigning June 1. There was no comment from Wade.

Waving placards with such denunciations as "down with Wade" and "get Wade out," the strikers marched through downtown streets yesterday. They left their classrooms Monday noon.

Ship Collision And Fire Kills Ten Guardsmen

New York, Jan. 9. (AP)—Ten Coastguardsmen were killed and at least 19 injured today in the first crash of a Coast Guard cutter and a tanker in thick fog off the New Jersey coast.

Many of their shipmates courageously stayed aboard the flaming cutter Eastwind to fight and bring under control the fire that threatened the ship's ammunition store. Seventy-eight uninjured survivors of the crash were taken aboard another vessel.

The collision occurred about 60 miles southeast of Barnegat light vessel.

The 504-foot tanker Gulfstream which collided with the Eastwind, reported she was proceeding to

New York under her own power with an uninjured crew of 42. Her bow was damaged.

The freighter Republic of Columbia came alongside the Eastwind and crewmen went aboard to help the cutter's crew fight the flames, the Coast Guard reported.

The collision occurred about 4:30 a. m. (EST), at 11:10 a. m. (EST) the skipper of a rescue vessel standing by reported the flames were under control.

The S. S. Suzanne, one of several rescue vessels which rushed to the scene through the fog, took 17 injured Coast Guardsmen aboard and rushed at full speed for New York. Her skipper, Capt. Frank Boyer, of Baltimore, said five were badly burned and the others suffered minor burns.

Canadian fisheries produce nearly 60 different kinds of food fishes.

Some huge rhododendron plants grow to heights of 30 to 60 feet.

Cottage Owner Sued By Mitchum For Use Of His Name In Ad

Los Angeles, Jan. 19. (AP)—Robert Mitchum has sued the owner of the Laurel Canyon cottage where he and three others were arrested on marijuana charges. The movie actor is under conviction on charges of conspiracy to possess the narcotic.

Nanette Bordeaux, owner of the cottage, had sued Mitchum and the others for $2,500 damages as trespassers after the place had been sublet to actress Lila Leeds, convicted with Mitchum Jan. 10. In a counter suit yesterday, the actor asked $10,000 damages of Miss Bordeaux, herself an actress, on the ground that she invaded his right of privacy in an advertisement to sell the furnishings of the cottage.

"Robert Mitchum sat here," his complaint quoted the ad. "Charming sofa and arm chair. New slip covers hide cigarette burns. $15 Souvenir hunters have taken everything else."

Mitchum asserted he hadn't authorized her use of his name.

Snow And Cold Hit U.P.; All Main Highways Open

Snowfall to a depth of eight inches and temperatures that ranged downward to 10 degrees below zero struck the Upper Peninsula today on the back of a strong westerly wind that whipped the snow into deep drifts in many areas.

All main state and county highways were open to traffic, but some side roads had not yet been plowed, it was reported by state and county highway departments.

Dewey Sends Best Wishes To President

change to white tie and tails for a dinner at the Mayflower Hotel (7 p. m., E.S.T.) with the presidential electors. And then to a giant "gala," a musical show-concert in the National Guard Armory.

The gala will feature about 700 entertainers, including a troupe of stage, screen and radio stars, three dance bands, an orchestra, and four military bands. It was a sell-out a week ago.

Boxes For $50

About 5,300 gala customers have paid from $2.50 to $10 a ticket while a few boxes near the President's party sold for $50.

Some time during the day the President was expected to sign a bill giving himself a $25,000-a-year raise in salary and a $50,000 tax-free increase in his expense account. His present salary is $75,000.

During the day, too, the President will put the finishing touches on his inaugural address. It is expected to stress the theme of peace—the theme that has threatened the inaugural hopes of presidents for generations.

With Washington crowded as it is, the inaugural committee passed out the happy word that no one will be sleeping on park benches. There will be about 25,000 rooms available in private homes to take care of the hotel overflow, an official said.

Especially honored visitors are Mr. Truman's old World War I buddies, veterans of Battery D, 129th Field Artillery, which the President commanded.

They will have breakfast with him tomorrow and they'll walk beside his automobile in the giant inaugural parade.

But this time Mr. Truman won't be walking with them as he loves to do. "I'll be wearing a high silk hat and a long tailed coat and I'm not going to march along in that rig," he explained to them.

But perhaps the secret service had a word to say about that, too. They have their biggest job in protecting the President as he rides along the parade route before an expected 1,000,000 spectators.

They have checked every building along the route of march ments. In general the condition was described as moderate to heavy snowfall and strong winds, with considerable drifting.

Because of the drifting snow visibility was poor and there are some slippery spots, motorists were warned.

In Delta county it was reported from the road commission office that all main roads were open and the plows were busy today on the side roads. Driveways will probably be cleared tomorrow. Snowfall in the county averaged about five inches, with considerable drifting.

School buses operated on schedule despite the storm. County plows began operations last night when the storm hit about 9 o'clock.

The strong westerly wind cleared the ice from the south end of Little Bay de Noc, but commercial fishermen suffered no reported losses. They have been cautious in setting nets because the ice has not formed solidly. Fishermen said they hoped for low temperatures, without wind, to bring good ice for winter fishing.

Delta county's temperature of 22 degrees above this morning contrasted with 10 below in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties, and 4 below in Iron county, the U. P. branch office of the state highway department reported.

Heaviest snowfall in the Upper Peninsula was in Mackinac and Chippewa counties, up to eight inches, where high winds continued to cause drifting today. Those counties reported temperatures of 26 degrees, and there were some slippery places on main highways in Mackinac county.

The state highway department reported moderate to heavy snowfall in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, and rain followed by snow and slippery sections on highways for the southern part of the state.

In Escanaba street crews were busy removing last night's snow from Ludington street and plows were clearing streets in all parts of the city.

from the Capitol down Pennsylvania avenue to the White House. Washington police anticipate well-behaved, orderly lines of spectators.

"Everything has been fine so far," one officer said. "We've had no trouble. And there's no sign that the pickpockets and grifters are following the crowd in."

Tractor Project Class Held Here For 4-H Members

The first in a series of three 4-H Club classes in farm tractor maintenance was held last night at the Escanaba Machine company plant in Escanaba, attended by 21 boys and four girls, members of 4-H Clubs at Danforth, Cornell and North Delta. Several parents of the boys and girls also were present.

Charles Bowers and John Martell were instructors in the course designed to aid farm boys and girls in making minor repairs and properly maintaining the farm tractor.

Ed Nyquist, county 4-H agent, reported that tractor maintenance is one of the popular 4-H projects in the county. In addition to the instruction by Bowers and Martell an educational movie was shown and equipment was inspected.

Other tractor maintenance classes are scheduled for Feb. 15 at Farmers Supply, and March 15 at Autoway Sales & Service in Escanaba.

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS. Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thionin, in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliant when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

100% Guaranteed!
WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

Inauguration Day

AT NOON TOMORROW Harry Truman will be inaugurated as president of the United States for a four-year term to which he was elected in his own name and literally through his own efforts in a political campaign which comparatively few persons thought he could win.

For more than three and a half years Harry Truman has been president of the United States simply by chance. He was Franklin D. Roosevelt's surprise choice as a running mate in the 1944 election campaign, which resulted in Mr. Roosevelt's successful bid for a fourth term. Three months after Roosevelt began his fourth term, he died suddenly of a brain hemorrhage and Mr. Truman found himself heir to the world's most important executive position.

Last November 2, Mr. Truman surprised the political savants by winning his battle for reelection. Even his most bitter enemies conceded that Truman's victory was the direct result of an extremely courageous campaign against seemingly hopeless odds.

In his opening message to the 81st Congress, Mr. Truman outlined his objectives for his new term of office which begins at noon tomorrow. It is a visionary program and an extremely expensive one. Even with a Democratic majority in both legislative branches of Congress, it is unlikely that Mr. Truman will gain approval of any substantial part of his program.

Nonetheless, the American people, Republicans and Democrats alike, pay tribute to Mr. Truman upon the occasion of his inauguration to what amounts to his second term and present their best wishes and their prayers for a successful administration.

State Labor Boards' Authority Restricted

MICHIGAN LAWMAKERS undoubtedly will want to carefully study the U. S. Supreme Court decision handed down Monday in the case of the LaCrosse (Wisconsin) Telephone corporation. The high court ruled that the Wisconsin employment relations board has no authority to conduct a collective bargaining election among employees of the telephone utility unless the National Labor Relations board has granted the state board the right to do so.

The court ruled, as it has done on numerous other occasions, that the federal law has jurisdiction over labor disputes involving telephone company employees.

The decision now brings up the authority of the state to provide compulsory arbitration of labor disputes in public utilities and the legality of statutes that ban strikes in such utilities. That point was not reviewed by the supreme court but there are some lawyers who believe that the new decision by the court is much farther-reaching than it appears on the surface. The question undoubtedly is headed for a court test, in any case.

Wisconsin has such an anti-strike law involving public utilities and so has Michigan, although the Michigan statute is clouded by an unfavorable decision in the state supreme court. How these statutes are affected by the latest ruling of the court still remains in doubt but lawmakers will want to know the answers when they get around to reconsidering such legislation.

The Problem Of Crime

CRIME FIGURES in Brooklyn for the year 1948 reveal 31.4% of the persons convicted of felonies were under 21 years of age and that an additional 27.1% were offenders between the ages of 21 and 25. Thus, nearly 60% of all felony offenders during the year were persons under the age of 25.

The crime experience in Brooklyn is not unusual. The same situation occurs throughout the United States. The prison records at Marquette branch prison likewise reveal that a majority of prisoners are under the age of 25 when sentenced.

Of those persons convicted of felonies who are over 25, a majority acquired criminal inclinations in their teen years. Many had been in juvenile court frequently.

The problem of crime is fundamentally a problem of youth. The social cost of crime is appalling, both from a financial standpoint and from the standpoint of waste of human resources.

Powerful forces—the home, school and church—are at work to build strong character into our children and fortunately, they are succeeding with a vast majority of our youth. The number who escape this influence or are immune to it, nevertheless, constitute our major social problem. We have not yet found a way to build responsibility and good character into the lives of children where there is parental failure.

The 'Cheap Divorce' Dodge

SEN. ARTHUR CAPPER's retirement ended a 30-year, one-man crusade to make wife-desertion a crime, an article in the current American Magazine recalls.

provisions interfered with states' rights.

The Capper crusade was against a weakness in most state laws which the American article discusses. A man can get a cheap "divorce" and usually evade all responsibility to his family simply by moving to another state. Since wife-desertion is not usually considered a crime unless the fugitive's children are destitute, he cannot be extradited.

New York has passed a law drafted by the Cook County, Ill., district attorney and his assistant. It provides that one state will take testimony in a desertion case and send the record to another court in the state where the deserter is living. The second court could try the man, order him to make regular payments of specified amounts, and put him in jail if he didn't. As civil actions, these cases would not violate the constitutional right of a person accused of a crime to confront his accuser.

New York cannot begin to put its desertion law into effect until another state passes a similar one. All 48 states would have to pass such a law, of course, to make it really effective. We commend its Illinois authors and sponsors for their effort to bring about this countrywide passage. There is no excuse for letting children become charges of relatives or the public or else suffer neglect because our laws permit fathers to step across a state line and obtain a "divorce" that is cheap in every sense of the word.

Other Editorial Comments

FOR BETTER GOVERNMENT (Detroit News)

A further word of appreciation is due the Citizens' Committee for Better Government formed earlier this year under the chairmanship of Laurent K. Varnum of Grand Rapids.

This is a committee of lay citizens with a shared interest in improving the quality of state and local government. It worked with Gov. Sigler in behalf of some of his reorganization program, rejecting some of it as ill-advised or premature. It was effective in support of the proposal of a state department administration, which was enacted.

Not concerned with politics as such, the committee intends to go on working with the new Lansing administration. Its schedule of objectives includes legislative reapportionment, improvement in the state government's administrative table of organization, longer terms for elective state officials, and county home rule.

These objectives are modest enough, taken individually. All are good, some so evidently desirable that they could be called subjects almost of common consent. What they need for their accomplishment is the kind of patiently plugging support the better government committee proposes to give them.

It is gratifying and encouraging to see citizens devoting themselves to such an enterprise.

A JOB TO DO (Sault Ste. Marie News)

Our Northern Peninsula still has a job to do in selling itself to the world.

Witness this: "Michigan consists of two peninsulas—a big southern one full of people, cities and industries, and a smaller northern one full of stumps, and a few mining towns—separated by Lake Michigan. To get from the main part of Michigan to the northern peninsula requires a veritable sea voyage. All roads and railroads from it run into Wisconsin. These misplaced 15 counties (16), by all logic, should be transferred to Wisconsin."

It's not a laughing matter, either, when you consider it was published in a magazine and written by a supposedly intelligent person.

And perhaps we can't blame the author too much, either. We are in part to blame because we have thus far failed in selling ourselves. If a person capable of writing magazine articles knows so little about our Peninsula, how can we expect the average American to know more unless we tell him?

The job of telling is for the Development Bureau and for Chambers of Commerce.

Often a milliner's prize creation is a feather in her hat.

THIS COLUMN CHAMPIONS NO LOST CAUSES

My mail frequently contains appeals from readers who ask me to campaign against certain usages and pronunciations which were once held as incorrect, but which are now fully sanctioned by the modern authorities.

This example is typical: T. H. G., of Dixmont, Penna., a scholarly and thoughtful man, thinks that something should be done to discourage the turning of French words into English.

He cites as especially offensive debut as a verb, ennuui as a verb, and rendezvous as a verb, as, "She debuted at the country club; he was ennuied by too much talk; they rendezvoused at the Blank Hotel."

Debut as a verb (debut, debuted, debuting) is rather new. But it is fully sanctioned by Webster's New International, Second Edition. The pronunciations are deh-BYOO; deh-BYOOD; deh-BYOO-ing.

Ennuui as a verb (ennuui, ennuied, ennuying) has long been good English. Funk and Wagnall quotes this example from Kane's "Grinnel Expedition," 1857: "I was ennuied past all bearing, walking the deck beastlike." The pronunciations are: ahn-WEE, ahn-WEEED; ahn-WEE-ing.

Rendezvous as a verb (rendezvous, rendezvoused, rendezvousing) is the oldest and most familiar usage of the three. It was widely used by the military, especially the Air Force, during World War II.

Greek Tragedy Grows Worse

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — The fall of still another Greek government is like a lightning flash across an ominous sky. It is a warning that disintegration and chaos may be very close throughout that tragic country.

It is a warning, too, that American policy in Greece must be quickly overhauled or our policy-makers in Athens and in the state department will find themselves receivers for a bankruptcy that cannot be contained.

Everyone of whatever political leaning, except official apologists, returning from Greece agrees that the situation has worsened during the past year and a half while U. S. aid has been poured in. There are now 26,000 guerrillas instead of 21,000 when U. S. aid began.

GUERRILLAS PILLAGE AND RAID
The Greek government claims, and with supporting evidence supplied by the United Nations commission in Greece, that fresh help for the Communist bands comes from Albania and Yugoslavia. Yet in the Peloponnese area, which has no contiguous border with the satellite countries, the guerrillas pillage and raid almost at will in increasing numbers.

Where independent observers disagree is on the remedy for past mistakes. Some say we have intervened too much and in too great detail while at the same time never making clear to the Greeks what policy we want them to follow. That might help to explain why every paper in the country from left to right, with the exception of the small sheet that is the personal mouthpiece of the extreme rightists, is critical of or even hostile towards the United States.

On the other hand, there are those who say the U. S. has been too fearful of intervening directly in Greek affairs. They argue that the U. S. should, in effect, direct the Athens government.

NO CLEAR POLICY

The fault lies, in my opinion, in the lack of any clear policy which the U. S. mission in Greece could lay down in such a way that no Greek could possibly mistake it. This has been the British criticism of the U. S. effort. While many of us did not like what the Churchill government contemplated for Greece, at least Winston Churchill knew what he wanted.

U. S. policy-makers in Greece have, it seems to me, confined themselves too narrowly to tired reactionaries out of the past. This has been one of the reasons why the U. S. effort has achieved nothing but a holding operation, and the success even here has been limited.

After Congress approved the Truman doctrine for Greece and Turkey, a U. S. aid mission went to Athens to supervise distribution of the supplies to be sent from here. Then later, at the urgent request of the Greek government, a U. S. military mission was sent to Greece.

That mission is staffed by able officers. They have been given, judging from most reports, good cooperation by the Greek government and military and they have been present as active advisers during engagements with the guerrillas.

Yet the military situation continues to deteriorate and the morale of the Greek army is said to be sinking lower. It is here that the Greek picture must be seen in the larger context of the U. S. approach to foreign aid and resistance to Communist aggression.

There are those who still say that a U. S. military mission sent to China under a first rank U. S. general could save at least part of China from Communism. We may well ask how this could be expected to work in China, where the problem is infinitely more complicated and difficult, if it would not work in Greece.

FORESTAL ASKS MORE POWER

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal is asking for the right to send U. S. military missions to any area where it is judged necessary to secure American interests. This is a grant of power so broad that Congress would do well to consider it a long time before taking any action.

Military men are often carried away by their own zeal and by an inherent belief that any action is better than none. They are too often deficient in the capacity to appraise the political-economic factors alongside the military.

Shortly before he resigned as premier, the venerable Themistocles Sophoulis indicated that he would consent to form a new government for Greece only if he were given power to carry out essential reforms. Perhaps it is not too late for the U. S. to give him full backing to effect drastic changes.

Greece will have been a valuable object lesson in what is possible and what is not possible if Dean Acheson, the new secretary of state, will see it in that perspective. In any event, the warning of disaster cannot be ignored.

ington," 1781: "You (Major Gen. Howe) will rendezvous the whole of your command at Ringwood or Pompton."

The pronunciations are: RAHN-duh-voo; RAHN-duh-vood; RAHN-duh-voe-ing.

There is nothing improper in making English words of French words. Indeed, there are more French words in English than any other element. The approximate percentages are: French, 35 per cent; Anglo-Saxon 25 per cent; Latin 16 per cent; Greek 14 per cent; all others 10 per cent.

We are prone to forget that English in its entirety is made up of borrowings from other languages. All words, of whatever source, that enter English are logically and properly subject to English grammar, inflections, spelling, and pronunciation.

Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-22, explains the personal pronouns in simple, non-technical terms; excellent for students, teachers, and writers. For a copy, send 5c in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him.

FARM MARKET—The expansion of rural electric lines is opening the greatest new market the electrical merchandising industry ever had, reports Business Week.

Looking at it from the standpoint of the farmer, the extension of rural electric lines is opening up a whole new field of experience in more modern and comfortable living.

There are three factors here and all must be considered in the future agricultural success of the Upper Peninsula area. The first is the maintenance of that higher level of farm income that began with wartime; and the second is the speed with which rural electric lines are extended to farms, often widely scattered in Delta and other U. P. counties.

Third factor is the greater convenience electricity brings to the farm. With it comes a modern standard of living—and the encouragement of farm youths to continue life on the farm.

DOING WITHOUT—Farm life was once considered synonymous with hardship. For many families it continues so. The burden of work would be lightened for both the farmer and his wife and family if electric lines could be extended into areas not now being served.

Water for barn and house can be pumped by electricity, buildings and farmyard can be adequately lighted, farm machines can be powered by electricity, removing much of the tedious labor that formerly went into the most simple tasks. With electricity can come indoor plumbing, modern heating systems and the household "gadgets" so long enjoyed by housewives in the cities.

The extension of electric lines can spell the difference between happiness and success, or drudgery and discontent in rural living.

HAS AN INTEREST—Whether the extension of electric power is accomplished is of vital interest to the city dweller as well as the farmer.

As electricity becomes available the farmer will purchase electrical appliances and equipment. This will mean employment in their production, profits in their retailing. Once supplied with this equipment farmers will be able to cut time and labor costs, step up agricultural production.

Just as the Delta County Planning Committee has vigorously sought to bring the benefits of rural telephone service to areas now not served, so is there an equally important reason for county-wide action in the extension of rural electric lines.

POWER DEVELOPMENT—Before electric power can be fed on to the lines that carry it a hundred miles or more to the thousands of consumers, it must be generated. Electric generators can be powered by water—the most economical—or by burning fuels such as coal and oil.

In Delta county electricity is generated partly by waterpower and by steampower. Increased generation is necessary if there is to be any major extension of electric power to rural areas not gestion that industrial, business and civic leaders of the county consider the possibility of surveying the whole question of undeveloped hydroelectric resources in this area.

STILL UNTAPPED?—Delta county has one major river, the Escanaba, only partly harnessed for the production of electric power. In addition there are at least two other rivers that possibly could be utilized for the production of electricity. They are the Whitefish and Ford rivers, neither large in water volume, yet possibly large enough to generate—at least seasonally—low cost electric power in those areas.

No harm would be done, perhaps much good, if the Delta County Planning Committee could place such a hydroelectric survey on its agenda for the year.

TO THE FUTURE—The general economic level of the Delta county area is higher than at any time in history. Much of this is because farm income is at an all-time high. Many farmers have accomplished, or are, planning farm plant improvements for more efficient operation. Widespread electric service will aid the farmer, bring greater expansion of the resort industry, and will in turn be reflected in the general improvement of the area's economy.

Electric power, plentiful and cheap, is a guarantee that new industries will locate here—not only in the cities but in rural sections of the county. With the extension of electric service should go careful examination of possible sites for hydroelectric

Into the Past

By Hal Boyle

New York, (P)—Once upon a time there was a serious young man named George.

George was the star student in a college class in "world population—its cause and cure."

Most of the students took the course because it was an easy way to get three hours' credit toward a degree. But not George.

When the professor, a gentle old bachelor, warned that the earth was getting over crowded with its 2,250,000,000 people, most of the class yawned. George sighed. He knew that every ten years there were 200,000,000 people.

One afternoon the old professor held a tea for a few favorite students he felt had learned the difference between Malthus and malted milk. George felt ill at ease at first because he was seated beside a girl named Grace.

George had nothing in particular against Grace. He just distrusted all girls.

"If something isn't done to reduce the rate of population growth," he said despondently, "they'll have to hang up a 'Standing Room Only' sign for the human race."

"Why, what a cute way to say it," replied Grace.

George began to thaw. Nobody in his life had ever told him he had said a cute thing.

"It takes 2½ acres to give one person a minimum level of life," George said. "But there are only 4 billion acres of arable land in the world—and there's already 2,250,000,000 people. How can that ever be straightened out?"

"It just shows a complete lack of responsibility," agreed Grace warmly. "There should be more self-control."

George realized here at last was a girl of real intellect.

"Of course, India and China are the biggest problems," he said. "They aren't really countries—they're just giant maternity wards."

"Why, George, how cute," said Grace. And he glowed all over because she had called him by his first name. So he asked to walk her home.

On the way they reached complete agreement. Grace had thought it possible for the world to support adequately a population of 750,000,000. Gently George showed her she was wrong. The right figure, he said, was 500,000,000.

"At that population level," he said, "everybody in the world could have plenty of bread and milk and steak—all the good things of the earth. And there would be no reason for wars, for everyone would have enough."

"We must find some way—gradually, of course—to cut the world population down to a sensible 500,000,000."

"Oh, George," said Grace, "you are so right. It's so unusual to day to find a boy who thinks about serious things in life."

And so they were married. That was ten years ago.

The first year little George, Jr., arrived. His parents thought it was psychologically bad for him to grow up an only child. So at the end of the third year of their marriage the twins arrived.

And then along came tiny Grace Ellen. She was something of a surprise. But nothing like the surprise that came in the seventh year—the triplets, Herman, Harold, and Hansel.

Shortly after the birth of the triplets they got a postcard from their old professor:

"Don't you think you two had bet-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—January is a month when we have come to think of inaugurating presidents and of raising money for children who cannot walk.

In addition to children, newspapermen became so long accustomed to a president who also could not walk, that they have been a little slow to realize that the president of the United States can now drop in on his friends on Capitol Hill without the least effort, and can amble in and out of the capitol's entrances as fast as any one else when he takes the oath of office.

For so many years was it necessary to build long, slanting ramps up inclines in order to avoid steps for the president, that people in Washington became quite accustomed to it and took it for granted.

And during all the years Franklin Roosevelt was in office, the newspapers, including those hostile to him, said almost nothing about his infirmity. Even in private conversation people did not talk too much about the fact that the president could not walk. They just felt sorry for him and didn't mention it.

Only on his birthday was his infirmity brought home to the public, and then in order to help others stricken with his dread affliction.

AN IDEA FOR TRUMAN

Today this column recalls these facts because as Franklin Roosevelt's birthday again approaches, and as the span of years since his death increases, it is only natural that the money-raising effort which he inspired should somewhat diminish. Therefore here is an idea which may help revitalize it—an idea by which one president can help the work started by another.

Harry Truman not only can walk, but he can play the piano. And despite the advice of his daughter to stick to his few favorite tunes, a lot of people think he plays rather well. They enjoy hearing him.

Only a very few of the American people, however, have had the pleasure of hearing him. He has played at the dinners of his Oklahoma oil heiress friend, Mrs. Pete Mesta. He has played at the Press Club, and in the privacy of the White House.

And while it might not be dignified for the president of the United States to play before a large audience, there could be nothing wrong with Harry Truman's making two or three records for the American people for the benefit of Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund.

For instance, in the president should make a phonograph record of his old favorites, "Missouri Waltz" and "Anchors Aweigh." I predict they would sell in the millions.

Furthermore if daughter Margaret sang to her father's accompaniment, more millions would accumulate for the infantile paralysis fund.

ASCAP OFFERS COOPERATION

To test out the idea, I put it before Fred Althert, head of ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). Althert has written a good many songs himself, including two which sold over two million—"Till Get By," and Bing Crosby's theme song, "Where the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day." So he can be considered something of an authority on music. Furthermore, as head of ASCAP he is something of an authority on the sale of records.

Fred Althert's reaction was immediate. He volunteered to obtain a waiver of all royalty rights from the authors of Harry Truman's favorites, and also offered to pay a good share of the cost of making the records. The only reason he didn't offer to pay all the costs was because he feared the sale would run into so many millions it would bankrupt ASCAP.

Anyway, there is an idea—an idea by which one president can help cure the affliction which struck another president. The records could be dedicated: "To a crippled president who helped a crippled nation—from Harry Truman."

TENNESSEE—HUB OF U. S. A.

Eleanor Kefauver, seven-year-old daughter of the senator from Tennessee, believes that all the U. S. A. revolves around her daddy's state. At least that was her excuse for inviting all the girls in her class to ride on the Tennessee float in the inaugural parade.

Senator and Mrs. Kefauver didn't know about their daughter's hospitality until one of the mothers called up and asked what her little girl was supposed to wear in the parade. Whereupon Mrs. Kefauver asked Eleanor about it.

Eleanor explained that since the Tennessee float depicted a garden scene there was no reason why a crowd of little girls shouldn't be seen in the garden. Furthermore, added Eleanor: "All the girls in my class have some connection with Tennessee."

"Why what about Evelyn Ellender," remonstrated Mrs. Kefauver, "she comes from South America."

"Yes, but she had to come through Tennessee to get to Washington."

In the end, Eleanor was overruled. She herself will ride on the Tennessee float, along with one little girl from every Tennessee congressman's family. But her schoolmates were ruled out, and Mrs. Kefauver has been busy calling up their mothers to explain. She doesn't know exactly how many people Eleanor has invited; so she is still worried for fear some of them may turn up at parade time.

President Oath-Taking History Is Reviewed

Harry S. Truman's first oath of office as President was taken in this quiet White House ceremony conducted by the then Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone. Although his inauguration will be far more elaborate, as far as drama goes such "substitutions" have eclipsed the pomp of actual inaugurations in American history.

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

The most dramatic inaugurations in American presidential history weren't inaugurations at all. They were substitutions.

Plan, spend, work and try as they have, no inauguraal committee ever has been able to achieve the drama that circumstance gave to the swearings-in of Teddy Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge.

The homely story of John Coolidge, administering the oath to his only son by kerosene light in the kitchen of a Vermont mountain farmhouse, has been told too often to need repeating.

Less well-known today is the spectacular dash that Rough Rider Roosevelt made from an Adirondack mountain top to Buffalo to assume the Presidency.

William McKinley was shot Sept. 6, 1901. His Vice-President dashed from a Fish and Game Club outing at Isle La Motte, in Lake Champlain, to Burlington, Vt., where he caught a special train to Buffalo. By Sept. 10 he was assured the President was out of danger. So he trekked back to the Tahawus Club, in the mountains 50 miles from the nearest railroad.

Three days later it became apparent the President would die. A courier from Albany rushed to the club. Roosevelt was out mourning. The courier started up, and met the Vice-President coming down. They dashed to the foot of the trail, climbed into a horse-drawn buckboard, and headed for a waiting special train. At 2:15 the next morning, while their vehicle still was careening along country roads, Roosevelt became President. But it was 1:30 the next afternoon before he took the oath in the dust-covered shrouded library of his friend, Amsley Wilcox.

Three years later T. R. was elected in his own right. His actual inaugural, March 4, 1905, shares honors with Abraham Lincoln's first—and maybe with Andrew Jackson's—for sensationalism.

A week before the big day, Teddy's Rough Riders breezed into Washington—cowboy outfits, ponies, lariats and revolvers. They cantered up and down Pennsylvania Ave., tethered their ponies to lamp posts while they tried to drink the pubs dry, yipped and ki-yied, lassoed Negroes, had a swell time.

They provided a guard of honor, from whose midst T. R. stepped to take the oath at the Capitol. They had a well-lubricated detachment in the parade, for which the new President kept asking and watching until it arrived. One exuberant member lassoed a spectator right in front of the reviewing stand and dragged him into the street.

The drama of Lincoln's first inauguration arose from fear that he would be assassinated. Warnings had come that there was a plot to kill him as he passed through Baltimore. He was sneaked aboard a special train at Harrisburg.

On inauguration day, President Buchanan met Lincoln at Willard's Hotel, and they rode together to the Capitol. The carriage was guarded "so thickly as to hide it from view," one newspaper reported. Along the route were soldiers by the platoon, with mounted orderlies at all intersections and riflemen on the rooftops.

The outgoing and incoming Presidents entered the Capitol through a covered tunnel-like walk, guarded by platoons of soldiers. There were squads of riflemen in each wing of the Capitol, and 50 or 60 under the inaugural platform. General Scott stood by with two batteries of "flying" artillery.

Andrew Jackson's inauguration in 1829 marked the rise of the common man to political power. The President-elect walked through the mud of Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, accompanied only by a few personal friends, and took the oath. Then he pushed his own way through a mob of spectators and rode to the White House at the head of an informal procession of carriages, farm wagons and miscellaneous vehicles.

The Executive Mansion was thrown open to everybody. Men, women and boys thronged in, stood with muddy feet on the silk-covered chairs and sofas, fought for refreshments, ground broken glass and chinaware into the floors.

The President made his escape through a window. The guests were enticed outside by the simple expedient of putting several tubs of high-powered punch on the lawn.

"It would have done Mr. Wilberforce's heart good," said one spectator, "to have seen a stout black wench eating in this free country a jelly with a gold spoon in the President's house."

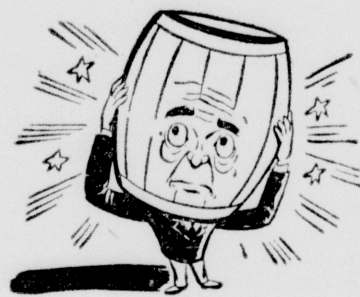

George Washington's first inauguration was delayed until April 30 because, two weeks after Congress was due to meet, neither house could get a quorum. It was April 3 before enough legislators traveled the bad roads to New York to count the electoral votes that made Washington President. Then couriers had to ride to Mt. Vernon and to Braintree, Mass., to notify them, and Washington and Adams had to ride back to New York to be sworn in on Wall Street.

WHEN you see the 1949 Chevrolets, a glance will be enough to tell you they're new—all new—in line and contour, in beauty and style. And when you look inside, and under the hood, and beneath the chassis, you'll see that their newness is not merely in outward appearance, but in design and engineering and construction as well.

But, to a lot of people, the 1949 Chevrolet is already old. They know what it will do, and how exceedingly well it will do it—they know all about its performance, its comfort, its power, safety, durability and economy. They are the engineers and technicians of the General Motors Proving Ground—the largest, most completely equipped, outdoor testing laboratory in the automobile world.

Here, before a single new 1949 Chevrolet went into production, experimental models were tested—made to show that they possess, in greater measure than ever, all those qualities on which Chevrolet has built its leadership.

In short, the General Motors Proving Ground tests are your assurance that your new-model Chevrolet has proved its worth through many months and many, many thousands of miles of rough handling.

Soon you will see the new Chevrolet—and when you do, you will see a car not only new, but tried and true.

Last of Three Lost Boys Found Dead In Mountain Country

Davis, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—The frozen body of nine-year-old Eston Carr was found in a huddled heap high on a mountainside yesterday, completing the search for him and two other boys missing for a week.

The youngster's younger brother, Robert, 7, was found dead Monday. The third, 16-year-old John Helmick, was rescued Sunday but is in a critical condition with pneumonia.

The three lads left this mountain community last Tuesday to visit the Carr home about five miles away. A heavy fog, then snow, set in, and the boys apparently lost their way. Some 150

Munising Youths Are Nabbed For Entering Garage

Marquette, Mich.—(Special)—Breaking and entering charges were filed today against two Munising, Mich., young men following their capture by alert Marquette patrolmen early Tuesday.

Baldus L. Pohl and Charles Brasier were nabbed as they were about to drive out of the Sig Wilson Motors garage with a used car which police said the pair had packed with goods. Value of the car and contents was set at $1,800.

The arresting officers, Robert Green and Michael Dooley, had checked the garage earlier but drove by it again at 4 a. m. They saw tracks in the snow which had not been there the first time, as well as a broken window in the rear door.

The intruders fled on foot toward their own car when they saw Green and Dooley but were caught by the officers after a short chase.

Townships Richest Units In State On Tax Diversion Cash

Lansing, (AP)—Michigan townships have become the wealthiest units of government per capita in the state as a result of the sales tax diversion amendment, State Treasurer D. Hale Brake reported.

Brake said 1,199 townships reporting to the State Municipal Finance Commission out of 1,266 in the state listed a total of $10,724,000 in cash reserves at the end of the last fiscal year.

Those units started the year with $6,008,850 in cash balances, Brake said. In the same period their investments rose from $1,652,536 to $1,910,616.

"This report", Brake said, "is plenty of evidence that the townships should not be getting money from the sales tax diversion. No other units of government in Michigan as a class can boast surpluses of any such comparable size. This money ought to be going to the county road commissions."

Brake's report showed that the townships collected only $2,375,609 in local taxes in the past year, nearly a third of it in delinquent levies.

At the same time, they received a total of $10,684,687 from the state, including $477,094 from the liquor license tax, $1,841,213 from the intangibles tax, $8,150,658 from the sales tax diversion and $214,721 from other state sources. Their expenditures amounted to $7,892,280.

Townships have no bonds outstanding, the treasurer said, and only $104,211 in short term loans. Brake declared "the townships' big excuse for taking sales tax money is that they contribute a substantial amount to county roads. This report shows all 1,199 of them gave only $1,111,100 to county roads."

Townships spent a total of $1,143,585 for fire protection, $248,400 for policing, $728,054 for supervisors' expenses and salaries, $424,325 for township clerks' salaries, $387,876 for township treasurer's duties, $104,153 for justices of the peace, $440,324 for operating town halls, $107,086 for health services, $180,853 for highway lighting, $565,274 for cemeteries and $147,620 for poor relief.

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures

The modern Miss "doesn't look for looks in her guy" and he doesn't need money to woo her, says pretty Cindy Lou Bates, 19, of Beverly Hills. She just wants him to be lots of fun and "very neat."

Cindy was selected Miss Stardust of 1948 by Hoagy Carmichael and model agent Harry Conover. Now that her popularity has increased she has given a lot of thought to her dream man. A registered model, now in New York and all set for the camera lens, Cindy has decided she will not marry for at least 5 years. But she intends to have lots of dates in the meantime and while she is waiting for Mr. Right Man to come along she'll find out about men.

She has a set of rules for her date and if he doesn't measure up to this prescription, he's out with Cindy. Here's what she looks for in the perfect date:

1. He must be dressed to meet the occasion whether they are going ice skating or dancing. His fingernails and hands must be spotlessly clean.

2. He should arrive on time.

3. He will have to be courteous and attentive when they are out. No table hopping, leaving her alone to talk to strangers or dependent on other people for entertainment.

4. He should ask her preference as to where she would like to go.

5. When she says she must be home by a certain time, he should not fuss and try to persuade her to stay out later.

6. If she doesn't drink or smoke, he should not ask her to do so.

7. If she doesn't want to kiss him, he should not make an issue of it.

8. He should not get in silly arguments over the check either with the waiter or his best friend.

9. If the food isn't good he should either send it back quietly or eat it. In any case he shouldn't grumble throughout the meal because it doesn't measure up to his expectations.

10. He shouldn't be an exhibitionist in dancing nor should he spend the entire evening talking about himself.

Cindy always has had plenty of dates but when she was in school she lived up to rules set by her parents—4 dates a week. Week-ends she could stay out until midnight, during the week until 9 or 10 o'clock.

A fun-date to Cindy isn't a nightclub. She likes outdoor sports and usually the athletic type of man who participates in sports. They are clean-cut, she says, and much more interesting than so-called book-worms who are boring. Cindy finds the outdoor man is a better conversationalist on any topic and doesn't confine himself to a groove of a few subjects.

She would much prefer to go roller skating, ice skating, moonlight horseback riding or walking than to go dancing, though she does enjoy music.

One way a Jackson can make a big hit with the girl, says Cindy, is to make a big hit with her mother. One of her most ardent suitors always is invited back to her house because her mother is so fond of him, and because he knows her mother is fond of peanuts and always brings her some.

That's being thoughtful and smart, says Cindy.

OES Invited To
Annual Banquet

Members of R. C. Hatheway Chapter, 49 of Escanaba have been invited to attend the annual banquet at which Minnecawas Chapter 96, O. E. S., of Gladstone will honor its past matrons and past matrons Tuesday evening, January 25, at 6:30. Reservations which must be in by Monday morning, January 24, are in charge of Mrs. W. F. Kammeier, 245.

Group Attending
Concert Tonight

A large number of Escanabans are going to Ishpeming tonight for the Arthur Rubinstein concert which is being given in Ishpeming high school auditorium, one of the George Quaal concert series. Included are Fern Fontana, Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fawcett, Mrs. G. W. Traverser, Eva Michaud, Louise Flink, Alice Kram, Mrs. Thomas Richer, Vicki Mroczkowski, Alpha N. Hansen, Marie Peters, Ruth Ahlquist, Eileen Torphy and Jane Dutton.

Always make gravy in the same pan in which the meat was cooked so as to use all the drippings; gravy made this way will usually have good color.

Brussels sprouts may be cooked whole or quartered. Be sure to remove wilted and discolored top leaves before washing; the tough core-like center end should be snipped off, too.

TWINS—Taking it easy are Patrick James and Michael Joseph, nine-month old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Francis N. Pond, of Munising. Mrs. Pond is the former Rita Carfelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carfelle, Munising.

George Quaal's Dream of Music for Northern Michigan Now a Reality

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—"You can't do it," friends told George Quaal, Ishpeming's backwoods entrepreneur, when he planned his first concert series for this remote mining town seven years ago.

But tonight pianist Arthur Rubinstein will present a concert from the local high school stage climaxed another of the small community's highly successful musical seasons—the seventh such season in as many years.

Quaal, who is not a musician himself, refused to yield when his advisers cited Ishpeming's severe winters, uncertain transportation facilities and rugged setting as factors that would upset his dreams. Convinced that the people of the northwoods settlement would support the same top-flight music the big city folk demanded, Quaal decided to gamble on his belief. Since then Quaal Presentations, Inc. has been an institution in the Upper Peninsula.

Ticket Office In Kitchen
But tough sledding greeted the plucky music-lover in his first season when only two performances were scheduled. Still convinced he was right, Quaal merely redoubled his efforts. After a full day at his job in an Ishpeming store, he began ringing doorbells to sell friends and neighbors on his idea. Assisted by his wife, Myrtle, he launched a publicity campaign that covered the entire Upper Peninsula. The couple set up a ticket office in their kitchen.

Quaal arranged with the school board to present his concert artists in the high school auditorium. His efforts began producing results. Highlighted by an appearance of the Don Cossack chorus, the first full concert season proved an encouraging success. Ishpeming has annually played host to a parade of top drawer musical talent ever since.

What's more, no scheduled concert has ever been cancelled by Quaal presentations in spite of snow storms, sub-zero temperatures and hazardous driving conditions. Today Quaal, still assisted by his wife, devotes full time to what was once his hobby. He has expanded his area of operations to include every corner of the peninsula. Programs are billed each year for nearly a dozen towns in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

Artists Enjoy It
How do the artists enjoy their treks to the frozen villages in the sticks? Quaal thinks they love it. Every hospitality is extended to the musical stars. And small towns are "much more personal." Marion Anderson was particularly impressed by her reception, Quaal says.

The Quaals figure their satisfaction more than compensates for the small economic gains and long hours entailed in their work. "We'll never get rich at this business," Quaal muses, "but it's very gratifying. We know we've made a lot of people happy."

Search Renewed
For Inmate Of Old Folks Home

An intensified search, in which members of the state police, sheriff's office and the conservation department are participating is now on for Isaac Truckey, an aged man who had been making his home at the Wendland Convalescent Home and who is now feared to be dead.

The wooded and marshy areas in the vicinity of the Wendland home have been thoroughly searched, but no clue as to his whereabouts has been found.

The aged man was mentally deficient and had on several occasions tried to leave the place, but his intentions were heretofore learned in time. This time, in the early hours of January 4, he had taken leave when everyone else was asleep. He was only lightly clad, without hat or overcoat and wore rubbers over house slippers.

It was at first thought that he had hitch hiked to his old home in St. Ignace, but he has not turned up there.

GEN. R. ROYCE
ROTE SPEAKERDiscusses Industrial
Possibilities

"Industry is on the move," General Ralph Royce, formerly prominent in army affairs during World Wars I and II, but now head of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, told members of the Manistique Rotary club at its regular meeting Tuesday noon.

During the recent war, he explained, a greater share of the war industrial plants were set up in the states of the Southeast. Manpower, then at a premium was to be found in this area in greater abundance than anywhere else, he explained.

Since the war, these same southern states, especially Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana are making an all out effort to keep industry there and to encourage new plants.

Industrialists, he said, like the idea of plants in less populated areas and are giving encouragement to the move. The less populated areas of Michigan are to some degree in the same category and smaller cities, including those of Upper Michigan, are due to profit by this decentralized movement.

He said that decentralization is also encouraged by the war department. The automotive industry, for instance is in a very vulnerable position at present in view of the fact that a major portion of this great industry is centered about Detroit, which could suffer heavily in one or two raids.

It is the purpose of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, to help the state make the most of its industrial opportunities and also keep the present industrial setup intact.

Tells of Palestine
General Royce also gave an interesting account of the setup in the Near East that has brought about the Palestine situation.

The Arabs, he said, greatly outnumber the Jews in the Holy Land, but they are so divided by differences in tribal relations, religions and environment, that none of them can exert any telling concerted influence. The average Arab is densely ignorant and poverty stricken while the average Jew is well financed, well schooled and Jewry is so closely knit in its common cause that the Jewish cause has prospered in remarkable fashion.

The Arabs, it seems, he said were enticed by a generous price the Jews offered for their property, sold it, lived in luxury while it lasted and now wish they had the land back.

The Arabs originally got their arms through lease from this country in return for oil concessions. The Jews are financed by Jews throughout the world, largely from this country.

General Royce was introduced by A. J. Cavia, a member of the Michigan Economic Development Commission.

Local Ski Club
Prepares For Its
Jan. 30 Tourney

The Manistique Ski Club will hold an important meeting Thursday evening, January 20th, 7:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce office. Plans will be completed during this meeting for the big Central U. S. sanctioned Ski jumping meet here, on the James-town scaffold, Sunday, Jan. 30th.

Ski buttons will be put on sale, as in the past, and a concerted drive will be made by club members. It is upon this drive that the success of the tournament depends largely for its financial support.

Realizing that snow plays the most important role in any ski club's activities, the Manistique organization is optimistic and hoping for old man winter to blow down from the north with a roaring blizzard or at least a snowfall adequate to carry the many prominent jumping stars who have indicated their intention of competing here in the 3rd annual jumping tourney. If snow conditions are favorable several local jumpers expect to compete in the Ottawa Ski Club classic at Caspian this Sunday. The local ski tow is just about ready for service, so all ski enthusiasts should wax up their skis and get ready for action.

Crisler Turns Down M.S.C. Home-Home Football Proposal

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 19 (P)—Michigan State's willingness to forgo $35,000 to bring Michigan's football team to East Lansing won't help, says Fritz Crisler.

The Wolverine athletic director put it this way when asked his opinion of the proposal to schedule home-and-home games:

"We don't schedule on the basis of gate receipts."

Crisler elaborated by calling the Spartan proposal "bait" which had been "discussed and tabled" before.

Michigan State had suggested that in the future the games be played in alternate years at East Lansing and Ann Arbor. The home team in each case would keep all the gate receipts.

Since Michigan's stadium holds nearly 86,000 persons—some 35,000 more than State's enlarged Macklin Field—State would lose an estimated $35,000 every time the game is played at East Lansing. This is based on the average $1 a ticket each school gets when receipts are split, as they are under the present agreement.

Crisler said Michigan has commitments "to help other conference schools make up their schedules as well as arranging for our own."

This year's game is booked for Ann Arbor. Michigan has offered the Spartans early season dates for the next two years.

Braves Trail By 27 To 18 At Halftime

Gladstone, Jan. 19.—After trailing 27-18 at half-time, the Gladstone Braves staged a brilliant rally running up 27 points while holding their opponents to 7, to defeat Munising, 45 to 34, here last night.

It was the Braves third straight victory in five days. They will be idle now until the 28th when they meet Ishpeming.

With Munising sinking some swishers from away out they piled up a lead that looked imposing in the first half.

Coming back in the third period, however, the Braves took command of things and the Mustangs were never in the ball game from that time on. Phil Creten, Billy Rajala and Charles Green teamed up to score 18 points while Steinhoff was getting a lone free throw for Munising in that period and the Braves were out in front 36-23, and that was the ball game. The Braves added 9 more in the last period to Munising's 6.

Green paced the Braves with 6 buckets and five free throws for 17 points. Creten had five buckets and two free throws for 12 points while Rajala had nine points on four buckets and a charity toss. Steinhoff paced the losers with 11 points.

The Gladstone reserves made it a double victory when paced by John Sverson who scored 18 points on six of each they rallied in the second period to overcome a fast moving Munising second squad 44-34.

Scooter Skoog Leads Scoring In Big Nine

Chicago, Jan. 19 (P)—"Scooter" Skoog, the sensational Minnesota sophomore who once thought about enrolling at Illinois, is keeping his aim on the Big Nine scoring championship with a bag of 74 points in four games.

Skoog, who finally decided to return to his home state after being discharged from the Navy, is clicking for an 18.5 game average after popping in 26 points against Iowa Monday night.

Ohio State's Dick Schmittner averaged 21 points in two games before being stricken with an undisclosed illness. He is in an isolation ward at the University of Iowa hospital for treatment, being confined before game time last Saturday. He has missed two Buckeye games and probably will be out of action indefinitely.

BOWLING

By JAMES G. WARD
Sports Editor

Thanks to Earl H. LeBrasseur, of Manistique, for the No. 1 bowling story of the week. Here it is:

"Felix A. Nateo, of Lima, Peru, who is trying to promote a new game called 'eucatic bowling' (from the Spanish 'eucatic' which is derived from a Greek word meaning 'well mixed') wherein the bowler rolls five frames with his right hand and five with his left, would have to doff his sombrero to Charles Hancock of the Manistique Elk Eat Shop team," LeBrasseur relates.

"Hancock, who is 73 years of age, was a right handed bowler until he lost some fingers in an accident recently. Was he discouraged? Not Charlie Hancock," he says. "He started bowling left handed, hasn't missed a night and is doing right well. A eucatic bowler. That's our Charlie."

Two hundred-plussers on the 'Stique BPOE lanes are Connie Graphes, 233, Dick Wille 232, Barney Johnson 228, Maurice Ekberg 221, Alvin Nelson 221, Ronald Fiezel 216, Bernard Chaudoir 215-211, Vern Ekstrom 215, Elwood Taylor 206, John Kasun 205, Archie Carpenter, Ralph Williams and Carl Carlson, 204, Bill DeBut and Leonard Males 203, Bud Malloy 202, Malcolm Nelson 201 and Bill Stephens and Ernie Eklund 200s.

How about some unusual bowling yarns from the busy alleys at Munising, Rock, Gladstone and Escanaba? The Manistique story rings the gong this week.

Anne Maki, who has been bowling consistently well with the Gladstone Women's Midnight league, hit a 193 honor count recently. Others with high scores were Margaret McLeod, June Madden, Ruth Hamilton, Catherine Rose, Anne Maki and Val Prass. Gerry Korinek gave the lassies something to shriek about the other night when she picked up the 5-9-7 and 5-8-10, and Sadie Artley converted the 5-6-10.

More Gladstone Twilight data: Sara Sloan plucked the 4-8-10 without difficulty, and top scores, Sophia Van Dalee reports, were Arlene Hagman, 179, Midge Knutsen 173 and Margaret Cook 170.

In Gladstone Holy Name, Art LeGault converted the 6-10-7, and Walter VanDeWeghe hit the 600-plus honor roll with 186-223-204. Other 200 counts are 205 Bernard LaPointe, 222 H. J. Bray, 210-211 Ray Wahowick, 216 Art LeGault, 202 Roland Demars and 214 W. S. Skellenger.

Jim Lynch came through with a new season high of 243 in the Delta league in Gladstone this week. Allan Gillis hit 212 and C. Franzer threatened Lynch's count with a fine 237. Dan Rivers plucked the 5-10 split.

The season high at the Escanaba Elks club, incidentally, is E. J. Flagstad's 249.

More bowling news later—keep it flowing!

SMAC Sextet Defeats Gladstone In 6-3 Tilt

Marquette, Jan. 19 (Special to Escanaba Daily Press)—The South Marquette Athletic club strengthened its hold on first place in the U. P. Hockey league by defeating Gladstone, 6-3, here last night.

The Indians tied it up twice at 2-2 and 3-3 but SMAC pulled away in the last period. A fight

Leahy Quits Athletic Directorship At N-D

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19 (P)—The task of turning out a winning football team is a full-time proposition, so Frank Leahy will quit his job as athletic director at Notre Dame this year.

But the nation's winningest grid coach will stay on at South Bend as head coach of football. And reports that he will accept a position as coach of the Washington Redskins, or any other professional team, are "absolutely false," he said here last night.

Ed (Moose) Krause, line coach, head basketball coach and assistant athletic director at Notre Dame, probably will fall heir to the job of athletic director, Leahy said, adding:

"He's been doing most of the work for the past few months, anyway. I haven't been able to devote much attention to it."

Leahy was most vehement in denying reports that he would join the pro coaching ranks.

ANN CURTIS IS PRO

San Francisco, Jan. 19 (P)—San Francisco's "Queen Ann" Curtis, Olympic swimming champion, heads east this week to begin her professional career.

She plans to leave by plane late Thursday night for the Midwest and participation in sportsmen shows at St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Flint, Mich. and Minneapolis.

Ten years ago—Patty Berg won the Augusta champions tournament with a score of 319 for 72 holes.

Mountaineers Tip Eskymos

40 Entries Likely In U. P. Gloves

Iron Mountain, Jan. 19 (Special to Escanaba Daily Press)—With Eduard Sleder accounting for 14 points, the Iron Mountaineers defeated a hard fighting Escanaba Eskymo aggregation here last night. The score was 42-33.

The rivals battled to a 13-all draw in the first quarter, and the Mountaineers held only a slim 21-19 margin at halftime, but a big third period did the trick. Iron Mountain scored 13 points to five for the visitors in the third period. Escanaba had the edge in the final quarter, but the damage was done.

Scoring was well divided among the Eskymos, who now have a record of only two wins against six losses. Harold Pearson, Harold O'Connell and Gary Abrahamson each contributed seven points, and Dick Pryal hit six. Big Warren Gustafson was held to four counters.

The Eskymos travel to Ishpeming Friday night for their second game of the week away from home.

In the preliminary game, Iron Mountain reserves won, 40-22.

Hawks Out to Break Dip Against Wings

Detroit, Jan. 19 (P)—The Chicago Black Hawks moved into town today to try to crack their National Hockey League slump at the expense of League-leading Detroit.

Chicago, which two weeks ago was challenging for first place, has won only one of its last six games though three of the Hawks, Doug Bentley, Roy and Jim Conacher, are among the League's first five pointmakers.

Bentley and Roy Conacher are tied for first place in the scoring parade with 16 goals and 27 assists each. Jim Conacher's 16 goals and 16 assists have him tied for fourth with Detroit's top scorer, Sid Abel.

Detroit, with a five-point grip on first place, will be trying for its fifth win from Chicago in eight meetings this year.

YOUTH HARDEST HIT BY POLIO

75 Per Cent of Michigan Cases Under Age 15

Seventy-five per cent of the poliomyelitis cases reported in Michigan in 1948 were in children under 15 years of age with the disease occurring most frequently at the age of five years, Dr. Frederick S. Leeder, Director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health, said today.

The age range of new cases reported during the year was from two months to 49 years, with more cases appearing among adults than in previous years. There were 770 reported cases in 1948 in comparison with 646, the previous year, and 1,001 in 1946, an epidemic year. Reported cases were almost evenly divided between paralytic and non-paralytic types of the disease. About one out of fifteen of the reported cases resulted in death.

Poliomyelitis is now believed to be caused by a family of infectious agents, not by a single virus. These agents are known to exist in the nose, throat and bowel excretions of people who have poliomyelitis, and of apparently healthy carriers who show no symptoms of illness. The agents may be transmitted by person to person contact, by flies, and, possibly, by contaminated water and milk.

Reported cases of poliomyelitis do not show the whole picture, Dr. Leeder said. Almost everyone is exposed to the disease at some time in his life. About 99 out of 100 people who contract the disease have light (abortive) cases which are not diagnosed, but which are communicable, and which probably result in immunity. Many of the people who are exposed to the disease do not catch it because they had these light cases of the disease when they were very young.

Of the people who become sick enough from polio so that their cases are diagnosed, about 75 to 85 per cent will either recover completely or will show marked improvement if given the kind of treatment shown to be most beneficial. Deformities may be prevented and crippling lessened by prompt, complete and sometimes prolonged medical care, Dr. Leeder said.

Willard Hansen Attends Ferris

Willard Hansen of Escanaba is one of the newest students to enroll for the winter term at Ferris Institute in Big Rapids. The Northern Michigan group of students there has been increased by several from the area who are just now getting nicely started on their freshman course.

Going with him are Cleve Older of Norway, Edward Peterson of Caspian, Miss Corrine Jean Johnson of Manistique, Kenneth Hammer of Trufant and Bill Kritselis and Lyle Belanger of Sault Ste. Marie.

The group along with other freshmen are already getting into the work and fun of the campus and right now the entire group is assisting with the March of Dimes program which Ferris students are staging. They will assist with the Variety Show January 26 and the March of Dimes ball January 27. Students hope to raise several thousand dollars for the dime treasury.

Others assisting are Wilko Mikalo, Hancock, representing the Gamma Delta fraternity, and Prof. Fred Broemer of Ontonagon representing the Eskimo club of which he is sponsor.

LITTLE FELLOW IS REAL HERO

He Pays The Bills And Wins The Wars

By Robert C. Ruark

New York—In a country which has special weeks to do honor to dogs and cats and flowers and special days for Army, Navy, Air Force and Motherhood, it has always seemed a shame that the collective citizen should be feted only on that baleful date, March 15.

Tax deadline day, or all's hell eve, gets its name from the vacant status of the bank account. It signals the meek little man's vital importance to his nation. His slogan has to do with the nobility of giving until it hurts, and its insignia is three golden balls rampant on a Morris Plan bank note. This is the little man's day, when he thrusts the fruits of his toil down the maw of government.

We are throwing a big charivari for Uncle Harry in Washington, come Thursday, in which the new deck of destiny moulders will be rifled for all to see and to admire. Somewhere in the festivities should be, prominently mounted on a spangled float, a little man named Elmer or Oscar. His face should be covered with white silk, to preserve his anonymity.

Little Guy Is Hero

Long, flowing robes should cover the patches in the seat of his shiny serge pants. Some sort of crown should camouflage his thinning hair. Around his feet on the dais, should be a montage of doctor's bills, rent receipts, income tax blanks, butcher bills, tax receipts, grocery bills, mortgages and parking-ticket summonses.

As this little man passes in review, the admiring throngs should scream, "all hail, brother!" And throw battered hats into the air. For this little guy is the true hero, the true martyr, the final endorser of Thursday's big show for Harry.

There has been an increasing tendency, in recent years, to ignore this little guy as a necessary nuisance. They take his money as a matter of course, and blandly scatter it into the breeze. They reward his faith with a stone.

They continue to take the administration of his government out of his hands, and often pervert it to their own ends. They act without his knowledge or consent, on an assumption of omniscience which is often as fallible as any little man's decision. They patronize the little fellow as a country cousin, when he is actually a pretty solid character.

Small Guy Fights Wars

If they whip up a war, out of their vast wisdom, they stay home to administer it and send the small guy out to fight it. They also demand that he pay for it—before, after and during. When he muffles a personal selfishness for what he feels is the greater good of all—that selfishness is rewarded by a hand plunged deeper into his pocket. Mr. Truman might remember, in his Thursday glory, that he himself is a little man elected by the little men, over what seemed an impassable barrier of massive Republican reaction and conceit.

Our little friend has two houses full of relatives, empowered to speak for him, dwelling momentarily in Washington. Those relatives have, in the past, been bullied and gagged and overriden by a powerful few, with delusions of global grandeur and a sweeping contempt for the freight-carrier. The 81st Congress might brood a bit on the importance of being hired by this little fellow, in a great demonstration of true political and civil liberty. They might bear him in mind when tempted to gamble his bankruptcy on the dicta of a few cloud-walkers.

This little man to date has been a faithful vassal of his nation, and it seems to me the time has come to reward him with respect.
